Liturgy of the Word

Â

First Reading:Â Â Wis.Â 18:6-9

That night had been foretold to our ancestors, so that, once they saw what kind of oaths they had put their trust in,
they would joyfully take courage.

This was the expectation of your people, the saving of the virtuous and the ruin of their enemies; for by the same act with which you took vengeance on our foes you made us glorious by calling us to you.

The devout children of worthy men offered sacrifice in secret and this divine pact they struck with one accord:
that the saints would share the same blessings and dangers alike;
and forthwith they had begun to chant the hymns of the fathers.
The word of the Lord.

Responsorial Psalm:Â Â Ps. 32

R.Â Happy are the people the Lord has chosen as his own.

Second Reading:Â Â Hebrews.Â 11:1-2. 8-19

Only faith can guarantee the blessings that we hope for, or prove the existence of the realities that at present remain unseen.Â It was for faith that our ancestors were commended.

It was by faith that Abraham obeyed the call to set out for a country that was the inheritance given to him and his descendants, and that he set out without knowing where he was going.Â By faith he arrived, as a foreigner, in the Promised Land, and lived there as if in a strange country, with Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise.Â They lived there in tents while he looked forward to a city founded, designed and built by God.

It was equally by faith that Sarah, in spite of being past the age, was made able to conceive, because she believed that he who had made the promise would be faithful to it. Because of this, there came from one man, and one who was already as good as dead himself, more descendants than could be counted, as many as the stars of heaven or the grains of sand on the seashore.

Â Â All these died in faith, before receiving any of the things that had been promised, but they saw them in the far distance and welcomed them, recognising that they were only strangers and nomads on earth.Â People who use such terms about themselves make it quite plain that they are in search of their real homeland.Â They can hardly have meant the country they came from, since they had the opportunity to go back to it; but in fact they were longing for a better homeland, their heavenly homeland.Â That is why God is not ashamed to be called their God, since he has founded the city for them.

Â Â It was by faith that Abraham, when put to the test, offered up Isaac.Â He offered to sacrifice his only son even though the promises had been made to him and he had been told:Â It is through Isaac that your name will be carried on.Â He was confident that God had the power even to raise the dead; and so, figuratively speaking, he was given back Isaac from the dead.

The word of the Lord.

Gospel:Â Â Luke 12:32-48Â Â

Jesus said to his disciples:

"See that you are dressed for action and have your lamps lit.Â Be like men waiting for their master to return from the wedding feast, ready to open the door as soon as he comes and knocks.Â Happy those servants whom the master finds awake when he comes.Â I tell you solemnly, he will put on an apron, sit them down at table and wait on them.Â It may be in the second watch he comes, or in the third, but happy those servants if he finds them ready. You may be quite sure of this, that if the householder had known at what hour the burglar would come, he would not have let anyone break through the wall of his house. You too must stand ready, because the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect."

This is the Gospel of the Lord

Being Ready

Being ready and noticing the call of God is one hallmark of being a Christian.

Be ready
to notice the need of God
in the people we meet:
in their need to be heard at a time of worry, in their need for care in illness, for forgiveness when we've hurt each other,
for the conversations that can bring faith in doubt,
hope in despair
and love always.
For there is the Son of man,

coming at an hour you do not expect.

Be ready, says the Lord,
to notice the need of God
in the millions of hungry children, homeless parents,
refugees without a home,
people, even children,
sleeping rough in our own cities;
be ready to care,
to help, to reach out,
for there is the Son of man,
coming at an hour you do not expect.

Be ready,
in times and spaces for prayer,
to notice the love of God reaching you and the world through you, the forgiveness of God
touching a world of hurt and violence through you, and the call of God
to be ready
today and every day,
to be his presence, justice and love among his people.
